Defeat of Gen. McClellan's Plans by the Abolitionists in Congress—Legislative Matters—The Assembly Committees Still Under Consideration, &c., &c.

ALBANY, Jan. 13, 1862. A centleman direct from Washington, occupying a position that enables him to know many things that are not given to the public, informs me that the meddlesome abolition members of Congress have already defeated three different projects of Gen. McClellan to strike severe blows against the rebels-blows that would tell largely the Union cause. They are thus, their theoremore. Nothing of public importance transpired in either ouse to-night. Both branches of the Legislature adsourced at an early hour to attend the Governor's levee. Mr. Raymond did not announce his standing co

The first named is known to have several important schemes to be ground out. It is, therefore, important to him that certain committees are made to suit his case. The announcement of the committees will tell how far he is to be favored.

The Governor's levee was well attended to night. Most of the judges of the Court of Appeals, State officers, several military officers and a number of prominent politi-cians from different portions of the State, as well as Senators and Assemblymen, were present. Everything passed off pleasantly, and will be looked back upon as one of the finest entertainments of the session.

Affairs at the Custom House. ALS—RETRENCHMENT—REDUCTION OF SALA-THE SUPPLEMENTAL TARIFF ACT—SUGAR, TEA AND COFFEE MAY NOW HE WITHDRAWN FROM BOND AT THE OLD RATES—WHO OWNS THE SALT-

PETRE! ETC., ETC.
The employes of the Custom House were thrown into a high state of excitement last Saturday by the remeval of a large number of the clerks. The process of decapitation has been rather slow of late, the Collector not hav ing made any considerable change in his force for six weeks or two months. Last Saturday, however, the orders arrived from Washington to dispense with the services of all of that class of employes called "markers."

These are clerks who held inferior positions in the public warehouses; some of them, however, had been transferred to other positions, several acting as messengers in the Custom House. In accordance with the orders of the Treasury Department, the letters of dis. missal were served on about eighty of the cierks designated above. The removal of these cierks was not for any political cause, but was one of the steps of retrenchment adopted by the administration. As the clerks removed received a compensation of $650 each, the amoun thus saved to the treasury is about $52,600. In addition to this step of retrenchment, another was taken in re-ducing the salaries of some of the officials—a few of whom had their salaries reduced from $1,500 to $1,200 per anducing the salaries of some of the efficials—a few of whom had their salaries reduced from $1,500 to $1,200 per annum. It is rumored that this is but a commencement, and that, ere long, more cierkships will be abolished.

The long expected orders concerning the new duties on tea, coffee, sugar, &c. have at last arrived. The articles above named can now be withdrawn from warehouse at the rates of duty levied by the act of last August—viz. Ifteen, four and two cents per pound, respectively, provided they were warehoused prior to the 25th of December, can be withdrawn on payment of the old rates. They are required to pay the rates levied by the Supplemental Tariff act. The importers are anxious to obtain exemption from these new rates for their merchandise affoat before the passage of the bill of last month, and it would only be in accordance with the usual custom fe allow such goods the benefit of entry under the former act. A delegation of New York merchants, interested in baving the act of December interpreted in this manner, are new in Washington urging their claims and arguments on Secretary Chase and Congress.

The trouble and inconvenience arising from hasty legislation, or rather from the passage of bills hastily drawn up, were never better exemplified than in the case of this supplemental Tariff act. It is folly for men who have been brought up in the country or in inland towns, who have, perhaps, lever seen a custom house in the whole course of their life and who are profoundly ignorant of the manner of conducting business there, to legislate on the subject of the tariff, without consultation both with merchants engaged in the importing business and with these familiar with the median present the bill for amending the present has will see fit to convolt a number of merchants and conton shall present the bill for amending the present has will see fit to convolt a number of merchants and conton which is housed and fitteen bags in all life to the subject of the series which will be taken on account of the g

Alderman Brady then offered a resolution designating upon the suggestions contained in the Mayor's message, and to revise the rules of the Beard.

The Assembly supportant suggestions and recommentations. The number of deaths during the year was 22.117, marriages 3.003, births 19,015, which result, compared with the enumeration of the previous year, would go to show that the population of this city was decreasing, instead of being ingely on the increase. This apparent disparity is charged to the refusal of doctors, midwives and ministers to comply with the Registration among the most inforesting subjects of the report. It is shown that the contract, as interpreted by Mr. Hackley, sy wholly on the side of the contractor, and that the interest of the city is left to take care of itself. The advantage to Hackley in availing himself of these imperfections enables him to receive $279,000 for only 241 days,

The motion to print 5,000 copies was adopted.
A communication was received from the Comptroller

Board of Councilmen.

This Board held its first regular meeting last evening resident Pinckney presiding.

There was a full attendance of members.

After the minutes of the proceedings had on the or anization of the Board were read, a few petitions and esolutions were presented and referred to appropriate ommittees, when appointed. A communication was received from the Comptroller in elation to the appropriations made by the Common Council for the equipment of volunteers and the support of their families. He states that inquiries had been made of capitalists and others, from which it appeared that it was quite uncertain whether the additional amount of $500,000, appropriated a few weeks ago, can be raised at the present time, unless the same shall first be sanctioned by the Legislature, the thirty-second section of the char ter of 1857 providing that the Common Council shall no have authority to borrow any money whatever on the codit of the Corporation, except in anticipation of the revenue of the year in which said loan shall be made, unless authorized by a special act of the Legislature. The will was offered for probate by Chauncey Shaffer, Esq. and the grant of probate is resisted by the heirs at law and next of kin, on the ground, principally, that the deceased had not legal capacity to make a will, and that he was unduly influenced to execute the instrument alleged to be his will.

ARRIVAL OF THE TWENTY-EIGHTH (IRISH) REGIMENT FROM MASSACHUSETTS.

The Twenty-eighth (Irish) regiment from Massachusetta arrived in New York yesterday morning from Boston in the steamer Connecticut. After the men had been dis rked they were transferred to Fort Columbus, Gov orders. Since the 1st of last October this regiment has been encamped at Camp Cameron, within a short disbeen encamped at Camp Cameron, within a short distance of Harvard College. Some time before leaving their encampment a disaffection arose among the men of the Twenty eighth, because it was intimated that native American officers would be placed in command of the regiment; but this afterwards turned out to be a fallacy, and the government, appreciating the power of the Irish element in this mimentous struggle, has officered the regiment according to the wishes of the men. The men are Funga a bellaghs, and their officers are of the same stripe, and who will doubt, when sent into action with the "Irish brigade" under General Meagher, their loyalty or their courage? Previous to their departure from Boston, on Friday afternoon, Governor Andrew presented the regiment with a becultiful stand of colors, making an appropriate speech at the valor of Irishmen, and dwelling an the noble cause in which they were now fighting.

Mayor Wightman also presented them with an elaborately wrought "Sunburst" of green silk. On one side it bore the device of the "Sunburst" of Ireland, surrounded by the Irish harp, the wolf dog, wreaths of shamrock, and displaying the following motio on an American ensign:—

those of Boston.

It is very probable that this regiment will be attached to General Buller's division.

By the arrival to-day of the schooner William H. Bell, Henry Bowe, master, we regret to learn the probable loss of her Majesty's line of battle ship Conquerer (101 guns), which occurred on Sunday last, she having struck on a sunken rock on the east of Rum Cay, and become embedded five feet in the coral reef. Mr. Miller, an officer of the ill-fated steamer, was despatched in the schooner to Nassau for the surpose of obtaining assistance, and we understand the Buildog will leave at five P. The Cenqueror is a two-decker screw ship of the line, drawing about thirty-four feet of water. She is of 800 horse power, and her speed averaged ten knots and three-quarters an hour. She is of 3,224 tons burden, carries 101 guns, and was built in 1855. Her former station was the Mediterranean, and she is one of the vessels recently sent to strengthen the Beltish North American fleet.

The same paper of 25th December says:-On the 13th instant the American brig Union State, G. W. Fox, master, of Bailinnore, struck on a sunken rock about eight miles S. S. The following is an interesting article, from the same paper, on the cultivation of cotton at the Caicos Islands.—So much is new being said and done to increase the cultivation of that valuable and indispensable article, cotton, that we should be glad to see some effort made to restore the cultivation of that article within this government. It is a production well suited to the soil of the Caicos Islands, where it was formerly produced in large quantities and shipped to England, and only failed, during the existence of slavery, from successive visitations of a most destructive insect—the shantel, or yellow by. Cotton was experted for a series of years, and as far down as 1812 cotton gins, worked by wind, were in general use; vessels direct from England loaded at Fort St. George, and now it some enterprising capitalist would resuscitate the cultivation of cotton on the Caicos Islands we think it would be remunerative. There are large tracts of public as well as private lands which could be purchased cheap, and there are from 1,000 to 1,200 working men, women and children, a large portion of whom could be employed. The principal outlay and difficulty would, we presume, exist in ginning, packing and shipping.

difficulty would, we presume, exist in ginning, packing and shipping.

The present residents at the Caicos would probably undertake cotton cultivation if their attention was properly directed to it, and government, by its initiation, were to give such encouragement as the undertaking deserves. Cotton now grows wild on many places, and it is said to be of several kinds—Sea Island among them. It would be an object to ascertain the better sorts, and perhaps to import other seed, which the people cannot do of themselves.

import other seed, which the people cannot do to themselves.

We invite attention to the growth of cotton on the Calcos Islands, in fact much can be done even at the Turks Islands, if it is once made plain to the people that they can profit by it. Women, children and others who are not able to work in the sait ponds, can plant and reap cotton; the principal work in cultivation is to keep it clean in its first growth. There are many persons now here who were employed in the business in early life, and would be valuable instructors in the mode of planting and receiving.

MEETING OF GERMAN RESIDENTS OF HOBOKEN.

Pursuant to a call, published in the German papers yes terday, the German residents in Hoboken held a meeting at the German Club House, Nos. 28 and 30 Garden stree with a view of taking action with reference to the case o General Sigel. The meeting was a large and spirited at fair. It was called to order by Mr. Stiastny, who norsi-nated Dr. Rittler to preside, who thereupon took the chair. Remarks were then made by Messrs. Dr. Dona; and Stiastny explanatory to the object in view, who, without making a distinct proposition, were emphatic in their denunciation of the ill treatment of General Sigel. Their object was to show the necessity of taking measures to protest against such treatment of an able officer, and to make the cause of General Sigel their own. On mo tion of Mr. Mochrieit was therefore resolved that the residents of Hobokea participate in, and support the demonstration of the German citizens of all parties in New York, which is to take place for that purpose at the Cooper Institute on Thursday next. Further, that an address be prepared to be presented and read at the mass meeting with a view of expressing the sentiments of the German with a view of expressing the sentiments of the Germans of Hoboken on this subject, and that a committee be appointed to carry out the above proposition. This was passed by a unmirrious vote. Several speeches were then made. Mr. Stiastny endeavored to remind the assembly as to the duties of the Germans in this country during the impending conflict, to show why General Sigel should be supported and vindicated. Mr. Feldner exposed the inabilities, prejudices and impracticabilities of some military leaders in contrast with the bright career of Sigel as a man and as a military leader. He was urgent that the sentiments of this meeting should be expressed in a clear and energetic manner. On motion, the following committee were appointed, who were charged to draw up the resolutions and address to be submitted at the Cooper Institute meeting:—Messrs. E. Feldner, A. Mochrie, J.
